

Earth homes

Posted by Strider - 2008/04/18 11:50

---

Sorry I haven't posted in a while. It seems that my life is in hyper mode ever since I found over 300 acres of land to acquire. The local Farm Land Bank is trying to help me secure this parcel and I'm rounding up some investors to help with the construction of the homes I want to build on 100 acres. This will be a community of 25-27 homes that will have about 3 acres each. The site will include a park, a pond, bike and hike trails while keeping that sleepy time atmosphere so people can unwind from their hectic schedule. The web site for the home designer is as follows:
<http://www.formworksbuilding.com/index.html>

You too can have an earth friendly home while enjoying the modern day luxuries. There are also 2 sites out there that can help with grants for your projects. www.greenroofs.com & www.greenroofs.org

Go explore and have fun.

Well back to my busy life. I have to pick up some people at the Atlanta airport, I'm a part time limo driver when I'm not working on my goat farm.

Take care and remember "The few who care about the future will teach the many" - Strider

=====