

SHIRE On Wikipedia

Posted by crossfire - 2008/01/10 11:17

---

<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Shire>

=====

Re:SHIRE On Wikipedia

Posted by Thenor - 2008/01/10 19:24

---

I need some one to post about the Shire here... I can't for conflict of interest PLEASE i am begging you

=====

Re:SHIRE On Wikipedia

Posted by crossfire - 2008/01/10 19:28

---

I don't think thats the right topic to post in though, I was just pointing out that SHIRE is a real "thing". Shires are kinda like counties in England. Some people might be curious if you intended a connection.

Read up on it, I'm sure that some people will be curious why you picked the acronym S.H.I.R.E.

=====

Re:SHIRE On Wikipedia

Posted by Thenor - 2008/01/10 21:33

---

it is a real thing the connection whether implied or experssed is there so so we might as well use it. it is a municipality a sovereign area. which works for me...

=====

Re:SHIRE On Wikipedia

Posted by crossfire - 2008/05/01 14:37

---

We need a real account for The S.H.I.R.E. Institute, not one tagged on to the municipality page. Posting our site in places that is not relevant doesn't improve our standing at all, and only will increase our 1 page (bounce rate). This will likely take at least 5 people or so to be able to achieve, maybe we can get some commitments to help create this page from people.

=====

Re:SHIRE On Wikipedia

---

Posted by FreyGrimrod - 2008/05/29 07:48

---

Perhaps a tag under the "See Also" once that page is created.

=====

Re:SHIRE On Wikipedia

Posted by crossfire - 2008/06/20 03:37

---

I think the page is already set up, but I'm not quite sure how to edit it. I think Sandor created it, so maybe he might have an idea how to access it to be edited...or how many people it would take to set up our own page.

Can someone get back to me on what we might need to do this?

=====